

Mag.(FH) Monika Fuchs MSc.

"Monika Fuchs combines modern HR management with innovative AI solutions and people-centered leadership. She supports companies in making their organizations fit for the future, revealing potential, and rethinking leadership in a digital world."

Monika Fuchs is an expert in modern HR management, leadership, and the strategic use of artificial intelligence in companies. With over 19 years of experience in international HR and general management leadership roles, she supports organizations in the further development of their HR structures, leadership culture, and digital transformation.

Her work combines in-depth HR expertise, practical implementation skills, and modern AI applications. As a consultant, speaker, and executive sparring partner, she supports companies in introducing future-proof HR processes, developing managers, and implementing AI in organizations and the associated change management.
